Atlas ICBM Blows Up In Firey Display

By RICHARD F. ROPER
United Press International
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — A fuel-laden Atlas ICBM exploded like a huge oil storage tank early today on what was intended to be another 4,300-mile test hop to the South Atlantic. The 100-ton Atlas, which has been chosen to boost the first manned space capsule into orbit, disintegrated completely in a white-hot splash of flame that rained the moon overhead in brilliance. The Air Force said the blowup was caused by a malfunction which occurred at 12:41 a.m. east, after the 80-foot war rocket's two powerful booster engines appeared and began a long plunge into the ocean. "The cause of the malfunction is not available," officials said. It was the first Atlas explosion in five months. The last blowup came Sept. 18, when the Air Force tried for the first time to send an Atlas the full intercontinental distance of 6,300 miles. The Air Force had hoped to test the missile's blunt nose cone today and observe the path the Atlas took through space. But the flight, which would have taken probably about 25 minutes, lasted little more than three minutes. Only once has the Atlas flown the full intercontinental route. After the one successful all-the-way hop last Nov. 28, the Air Force tried Jan. 15 for another ocean-spanning flight but engine trouble cut that trip to only about 200 miles.

Debbie To Bury Self In Work

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Spunky Debbie Reynolds, who won a divorce from Eddie Fisher by blaming Elizabeth Taylor for breaking up her marriage, said today she would fill the void in her life by working in movies. Though she didn't mention revenged Liz by name in her testimony Thursday, it was clear that Mike Todd's widow was "the other woman." To forget the ordeal of the romance that wrecked her home, the 26-year-old Debbie said, "I'll be working very hard for the rest of the year. Now that the legal business is over the three of us will no longer be bound together in any way and will no longer be news."

Dulles Starts X-Ray Therapy

By W. S. DICKINSON JR.
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — John Foster Dulles will be wheeled through a one-ton lead door today to face massive X-ray therapy that could stop the spread of his abdominal cancer. On the outcome of the treatment from Walter Reed Army Hospital's million-volt X-ray machine hinged Dulles' future activities as secretary of state. No "cure" is considered probable. Rather, physicians were hopeful the radiation therapy which begins today could arrest the disease. Dulles' cancer is on part of the intestine involved in his hernia. It is glandular in nature. Cancer authorities said such a malady generally requires three to six weeks of treatment. It was expected the 70-year-old cabinet member would spend several minutes a day, four or five days a week, in front of the X-ray machine. He will be bombarded by rays directed from a huge instrument suspended from the ceiling in a concrete-walled room at the sprawling medical center. The lead door is one of the many precautions taken to prevent the rays from escaping the room. Radiologists supervising the treatment are protected from stray radiation by a water-filled window that enables them to keep constant watch on the patient. "X-ray, if intense enough, damage any body cell they penetrate. But they damage cancer cells more than the normal cells, and in that rest the hope the treatment will benefit Dulles."

Veterans Making Poppies For Sale

Mrs. August Wilson, American Legion Auxiliary poppy chairman, stated today that thousands of disabled veterans, unable to do other work, are now employed making the little memorial flowers to be worn on Poppy Day in May. More than twenty million of the poppies will be made to be distributed volunteer workers from the Auxiliary who will receive contributions for the American Legion activities for disabled veterans and needy children of veterans.

DULLES TREATMENT—This million-volt X-ray machine, containing a bulb five feet long and said to be the oldest in X-ray history, is believed the one for radiological treatment on Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. It is demonstrated in Walter Reed hospital, Washington, by Nurse Mabel Quarry and technician Ronald A. Norman, who lies under the "port." The machine is suspended from ceiling of a concrete-walled room. Door of the room is of lead and weighs a ton.

Jig Fishing Said To Top Lake Fishing

FRANKFORT (UPI) — Most Kentucky lakes are muddy, with best results gained by jig fishing, the State Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources reported Thursday. Bass and crappie catches at Lake Cumberland have improved recently with walleyes being taken at the south fork of the lake. Lake Cumberland is muddy to murky with the best bass catches made by jigging in the Burnside area. Bass have been caught by using night crawlers. Dale Holloy reports fair catches by jigging muddy waters. The best catches at Herrington Lake have been by jig fishing in the muddy waters. Kentucky Lake is also muddy with good crappie catches reported in the Jonathan Creek section.

Costello Stripped Of Citizenship

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sixty-eight year old gambler Frank Costello was stripped of his American citizenship today by federal court order. The ailing gambler is currently in Leavenworth serving a five-year prison sentence for tax evasion. Federal Judge Archie O. Dawson held that Costello had willfully misrepresented and concealed material facts in obtaining citizenship Sept. 10, 1925. The government claimed Costello became a citizen fraudulently by concealing his bootlegging operations and a 1946 conviction for carrying a concealed weapon. The action by the court today paved the way for the government to proceed with its deportation plans. Costello, after his tax evasion conviction, had volunteered to leave for Italy if the government would drop its prosecution. His offer was refused and his denaturalization trial began early in January. The first denaturalization trial for Costello late in 1946 was tossed out by the court on the grounds of "insufficient evidence," the alleged use of illegal wiretaps by the prosecution. The government appealed and the Supreme Court early in 1948 reversed on a technicality the dismissal of the action and remanded it back for another trial. Rotary Hears FFA Members On Activities

E. B. Howton presented the program yesterday at the Murray Rotary Club. Howton introduced Leroy Eldridge, who directs the Murray Training School chapter of the Future Farmers of America, and three of the outstanding members of the chapter, Jimmy Thompson, Charles Byers, and Ralph Oliver. Eldridge introduced the three boys named above and told something of the chapter. A series of slides showing some of the activities of the club was shown by the three members, who made appropriate remarks for each of the scenes shown. Eldridge concluded the program by thanking the Rotarians for the cooperation an inspiration which they had given through the years. Earl Whitley of Mayfield and Glen Lambert of Bowling Green were visiting Rotarians. James Easter was a guest of Bernard Harvey.

Murray Civitans To Hold All Day "Pancake Day" March 28

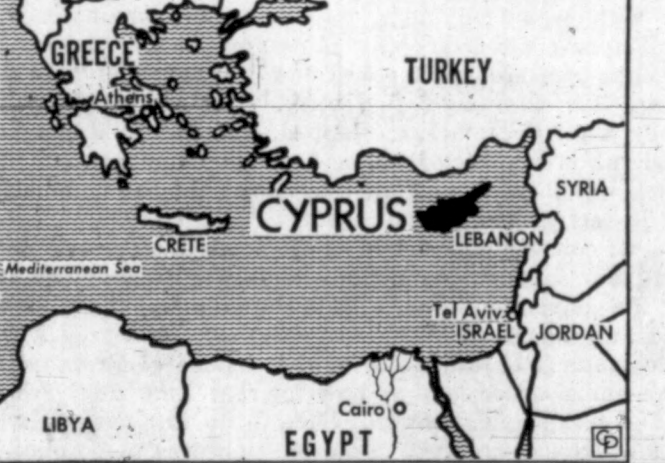

The Murray Civitan Club plans a project for Saturday March 28, which is unusual in that it has never before been done in Murray. The club has made arrangements with the Kentucky Colonel and Rudy's Restaurant to "take over" the restaurant for that day. The only thing on the menu will be pancakes, sausage, donuts, milk and coffee, which will be served from 4:00 a. m. until closing time that night. Waiters will be members of the Civitan Club, and all proceeds from the project will go toward the project of the club. Members of the club will be out, beginning Monday, selling tickets to the all day affair, the tickets being $1.00 each. The project took up most of the meeting which was held last night at the Kentucky Colonel, President Red Willoughby presided over the meeting. He had as his guest Ernest Young, Civitan of North Carolina. Jerry Requa was a guest of Woodrow Rickman. The club said that those persons who purchase a ticket will not only be buying a meal, but will also be aiding the club in the various projects which it plans to undertake during the year.

Waterfield Gets Poster Challenge

LEXINGTON (UPI) — Bert L. Combs challenged Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield Thursday to take a stand on the use of campaign posters along Kentucky highways. The Garden Club of Kentucky last fall asked all candidates for governor to refrain from putting up campaign posters on trees and utility poles. BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Where is he that is born king of the Jews? Matthew 2:2.

He is easier to find than He was two thousand years ago. He may possibly be found within our own heart of hearts.

CHURCH AND STATE

REGARDLESS of what one may think of the prospects of a Roman Catholic heading the 1960 national democratic ticket Senator John Kennedy has already demonstrated he will meet the issue head-on, rather than run the risk of losing the so-called Southern "Bible Belt" on false pretenses like the late Governor Al Smith of New York did in 1928.

Smith even lost the State of Tennessee because he was a Roman Catholic, although it was difficult to find a democrat who voted against him on those grounds.
Most of them said they voted against him because he favored repeal of the eighteenth amendment yet four years later Franklin D. Roosevelt received the largest majority in history in this state on the same pro-liquor pledge which many said caused Smith to lose out.

Kennedy has let it be known he intends to enter a number of state presidential-primary contests in 1960, and he is grooming himself accordingly by "playing like" he favors separation of church and state, opposes federal, or state, aid for parochial and private schools, and promises he will never make appointments on religious grounds. He is also opposed to sending an ambassador to the Vatican.

The eminent democrat has much in the way of family background and personal charm and enterprise to recommend him as a leading contender for the nomination, but we can't believe the party is quite ready to risk a 1960 victory which looks like a push-over in the light of the landslide of last November.

Senator Kennedy apparently feels that he is a favorite with organized labor, but we believe union leaders will oppose him when the chips are down. The likes of Walter Reuther don't relish the Kennedy-Ives bill any more than they do Taft-Hartley. They make noises like they want racketeering stopped, and would appreciate federal protection of union funds. If they actually did they would have used their influence for the nomination of Robert Taft in 1952.

Of course if Kennedy gets the nomination he can count on labor support, but if the leaders prefer some one else at the convention he may find religion a secondary rather than a primary, issue. He may enter state primaries where the labor issue can be somewhat submerged so that he can get a better idea of how tolerant Americans are on religion, and what he will have to do to overcome with his religious handicap if, indeed, it proves to be one.

He may find before the campaign for the nomination gets very far along, however, that many voters will refuse to accept his declarations on religious tolerance, just as some labor leaders oppose the Kennedy-Ives antiracketeering bill. In the list will be those who will want examples of Roman Catholic presidents, kings or poten-tates, or anybody else with almost unlimited executive authority, who have practiced "separation of church and state."

And the reason they will want such examples is because there are so many throughout history who have insisted on a merger of church and state. They will point to Argentina, as well as to nations in Europe which have been ruled by Roman Catholics for centuries and ask how much religious tolerance exists in those nations.

We have always admired Senator Kennedy, but we suspect political expediency in deliberately injecting the religious issue into the 1960 political campaign this early.
He apparently believes people of all religious faiths will consider and debate the wisdom of electing a Roman Catholic to the presidency of our Republic and conclude it is the thing to do in a system of government like ours.

Senator Kennedy is one of the best politicians of the twentieth century and he may be expected to enter state primaries first that are preponderantly Roman Catholic, or where religion of any sort is not taken seriously. Win-

Funeral of Mrs. H.
Boyce Taylor Held
Last Sunday

Mrs. H. Boyce Taylor, age 83 on Feb. 4, moved into her new home in Heaven on Friday Feb.
13, 1959, at 1:10 a. m. when she went to be with her Lord, after being in invalid for a number of months. She was born in Muhlenburg Co. Ky. Feb. 4, 1876.
She has lived in Murray, Ky., for over sixty years.

Funeral services were conducted for her at the Max Church Hill Funeral Chapel in Murray, Ky., on Sunday, Feb. 15, at 2:30 p. m.
Bro. Wendell Rone, of Paducah, Ky., read Proverbs 31:10-31, and prayed a comforting prayer, followed by the sermon of comforting thoughts by Dr. H. C.
Chiles, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Murray, Ky., where the late Mrs. Boyce Taylor was the pastor for 34 years.

Dr. Chiles said, in part;
"Mrs. Taylor has already preached her funeral sermon of the Christian life she has chosen.
We all preach our own funeral sermon by the kind of life we choose to live. As we grow gardens of beautiful flowers to be plucked and placed in our homes to beautify our homes, just so God is growing a beautiful garden of flowers made up of Christian people he has placed here on earth to grow into a useful, beautiful flower of service for him, so that he may pluck it and place it in his flower garden in Heaven. The H.
Boyce Taylor family has now provided another beautiful flower to be placed in that garden of his chosen flowers of beauty."

May all Christian people fill their lives with so full of helpful and useful service for God, that they too, like Mrs. Taylor, may each grow into a very beautiful flower to be plucked and placed in God's Heavenly Flower Garden.

Even though Mrs. Taylor's life was a very busy one, she found time to write a mission book—the title of which is "Pioneers of The Cross-In the Southland." She also taught English in the West Kentucky Bible School, in Murray, during her husband's lifetime. She loved hymns and history of the hymn writers so much that she taught them to ject to preachers and others who attended the school. She required her students to memorize at least two hymns per week and this has been a strong testimony of her in the lives of her former students down through the years in their christian work for the Lord.

Some of the most loved hymns among her favorites, were used in her funeral service. They were:
"Jesus Paid It All," "Amazing Grace," "Shall We Gather At The River," and one other song requested by her daughter, Mrs.
Frances Watson, "Going Home," which was a solo by Bro. Harry Hampsher, who had charge of the music.

For a great number of years, Mrs. Taylor organized a class of young girls into a mission study class-called the "Ann Hasseltine Society." These girls met in the Taylor home each Saturday afternoon to study the Bible and missionary history. Mrs.
Taylor greatly influenced hundreds of girls down through the years by her teaching of the Bible.

Mrs. Taylor is survived by a daughter—Mrs. Frances Watson, Tulalosa, New Mexico a son H. Boyce Taylor, Jr., three grandchildren: Barney Watson, Jr.
(in the Army); Miss Martha Watson, of Lexington, Ky.; and Mrs. Montgomery Corse, (Floridence, Ohio) (Taylor) of Jacksonville, Fla. She also is survived by four great grandchildren: Barney Watson, III; age about 8; Montgomery Corse, Jr., age 9; Taylor Corse, age 7; and Catherine Corse, age 6. She was named after her great, great, great Grandmother, whom everyone called "Grandma Taylor." Several nieces and nephews also survive her.

Written by Mrs. J. R. McNutt, (Alpha McGough) Former employee of late H. B. Taylor.

Parke, Carroll, general manager of the Athletics, admitted he has been dicker with the Tigers and said, "There's a strong possibility of a deal with Detroit when I get down to Florida next week."

"However, we're not interested in trading Maris and Lopez," added Carroll, who declined to interview the players mentioned in his trade talks with General Manager Rick Farrell of the Tigers.

Kuenn, a former all-star shortstop, made a successful switch to center field last year. His batting average of .319 was third best in the American League but he drove in only 54 runs and hit eight homers.

Maris and Lopez, between them, totaled 45 homers and 152 runs batted-in last season. Maris, an outfielder obtained from Cleveland in June, slammed 28 home runs and drove in 80 runs although he batted only .240. Lopez, who can play second base, third or the outfield, hit .261.

Hoelt is expendable Hoelt became expendable when the Tigers acquired Ray Narleski and Don Mossi from the Indians during the off-season. A 20-game winner in 1958, Hoelt won only nine games the following season and wound up with a 10-9 record last year.

In addition to their trade negotiations, both the Tigers and A's are busy attempting to sign several "stragglers" before the start of serious workouts.

The Tigers announced that pitchers Frank Lary, Tom Morgan and George Sures Jr., would be considered holdouts if they failed to come to terms before the team's batteries reported to camp today, while the A's are getting nowhere in contract talks with slugging outfielder Bill Cervi, who reportedly is asking for a $30,000 pact.

Good-Conduct Clause Whitely Ford was among the losing Thursday when the New York Yankees conducted their first drill for batterymen. The adsouthpaw reportedly has been offered a $30,000 raise, which would hike his salary to about $35,000, but it was based on a so-called
"good conduct" clause.

FARMERS !!

Do you plan to swap tractors, trade cars or trucks, build dairy barns, buy livestock or make other major improvements? If so and you don't have the cash, you owe it to yourself to investigate PCA's plan for financing this kind of investment. The Jackson Purchase Production Credit Association has a plan that is especially tailored for farmers and is convenient and economical.

1. Loans are made for one to five years.
2. Payments are due when crops and livestock are sold.
3. Interest is figured only on the number of days the money is used.
4. There is an adequate supply of money at all times.
5. No co-signer is required.
6. All capital stock is owned by local farmers.
7. Loans may be covered by credit life insurance.

PCA also makes loans to purchase fertilizer, seed, fuel, and for other operating expenses.
More of the better farmers are using the Production Credit plan to finance their farm programs.

For a dependable convenient loan that will make you money, see Keys Keel at the Jackson Purchase Production Credit Association for your credit needs.
